â€œThe Temptation of Temptationâ€• is an exposition of Tractate Shabbat 88a-b, a Talmudic fragment aggadically recounting of the giving of the Torah. In introducing his lecture Levinas makes the important point: The word â€œGodâ€• will occur rarely. It expresses a notion religiously of utmost clarity but philosophically most obscure.

temptation is morally neutral. It's only a proposition, almost always contains a lie, and we don't have to accept it. To endure temptation is part of life. To accept the proposition is to sin, and that's part of life, too. Avoiding temptation is certainly a good practice, but it can take you only so far.
